When you have a product that requires a typeface, consider FontWorld's ZORBA Font Family.

Regardless if you have hardware or software that requires a font to be embedded into your product, the solution is to license typefaces.

This eliminates your liability, as you will be a 'licensed user', and will have right to distribute fonts with your products.

Further, unlike other options, FontWorld will provide you with a one-time licensing fee. This means you will not have to pay on-going royalty fees, and your project can remain within budget.

If you have special language requirements, FontWorld can handle that too!

The Zorba Font Family can meet all your needs, without wearing out your budget.

Send us a detailed email with your specific requirements, and we will prepare for you a price quote.

If you need to embed a font or font family in your product, software or hardware, similar in appearance to Helvetica or Arial, consider 'Zorba' from FontWorld.

For a reasonable one-time licensing fee.

• Established

FontWorld is an established company since 1989, accepted in the typeface industry as a quality manufacturer and supplier of typefaces. Our client list is as impressive as the quality of our font products.

• Appearance

Zorba font family is similar in appearance to Helvetica or Arial, and industry standard for a basic 'easy-to-read typeface design'. It will display well for your software or hardware projects.

• One-Time Fee

At FontWorld, you only need to pay once for a font. You do not need to provide accounting of units sold, and pay year-after-year. No on-going annual licensing expenses.

• Language Support

Every font licensed supports English and Western European languages, such as French and Spanish. For Central European, Greek, Russian, and other language support, an additional fee applies.
